

Conflict Materials Statement

January 15, 2014

Under the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform Act, which was finalized in July 2010, publicly traded companies whose products contain metals derived from minerals defined as conflict minerals, which include tantalum, tin, tungsten, and gold, are required to report annually to the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC).

The new reporting requirements are based on concerns that revenues obtained from mining and transport of conflict minerals finance the ongoing conflict in the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC) and surrounding countries and the resulting humanitarian crisis.

Since MCX inc. is a contract manufacturer of OEM designed cable assemblies and wiring harnesses, it doesn't design nor develop any unique products.

- MCX inc. commits to support their customers in their need to comply with the Conflict Materials portion of the Dodd-Rank Wall Street Reform Act.
- MCX, inc. will work with our vendors in procuring the most current information on their material status for our customers.
- MCX inc. will source the manufacture specified on the customer's Bill of Material.
- On the rare occasion that a customer allows MCX inc to pick a vendor, they will source from socially responsible suppliers

MCX inc. is committed to sourcing products from businesses that respect, protect and support human rights throughout the world.
